All-American Douglas Fir

The Douglas Fir is the Pacific Northwest's most popular Christmas Tree. It is the one tree we shape into a pyramidal shape by shearing and pruning the limbs. The needles are soft and surround the whole limb. You'll find we have about two thousand in the far back field by Salmon Creek.

Price: $ 30.00 includes tax

Fragrant Grand Fir

The Grand Fir is our favorite because it smells like Christmas. We like our Grand Fir to have room for ornaments so we hand prune for a layered look. The needles are distinctive in the way they generally protrude from the sides of the limb giving a flat look (at least on the bottom branches). The bottoms of the needles have a silvery white appearance.

Contemporary Turkish (Nordmann) Fir

The Turkish has become our most robust tree and its similarity to the Noble Fir makes it a favorite to those looking for sturdy limbs to support their ornaments. The layering is more pronounced in some trees where others can be very full. The needles tend to grow out and up from the sides and top of the limb. Their waxy dark shiny green coating helps them retain water and makes them the longest lasting tree available.

Price: $ 60.00 includes tax ~ These trees are tagged with a pink ribbon in the field

Classic Noble Fir

Everyone's dream tree, it has long been a dream for us. We began planting the Turkish Fir because of its resemblance to the Noble but have finally had some success with the Noble in our front lot. The tint of the Noble needles is a little bluer and they grow out of the top of the sturdy limbs.

Price: $ 60.00 includes tax ~ These trees are tagged with a red ribbon in field

Colorful Colorado Blue Spruce

The Spruce is a unique tree that has an amazingly startling Blue color. These trees have the most rigid limbs and to go with them the sharpest needles. You'll find these in varying colors from a bright blue to green.

Price: $ 40.00 includes tax

Crazy Scotch (Scots) Pine

These trees love our wet soil so much they've grown to immense sizes! If you're looking for the original Charlie Brown tree these are the ones. Actually, they are America's most popular Christmas tree as the folks back east love them. We have them to about 20 feet tall. The needles are long and poky but the limbs leave a lot of room for ornaments. Our best price per foot value! Suitable for those with allergies.

Price: $ 25.00 incl tax
